

The Saga of Þrafnkel

a traditional icelandic story that a man named hallfred brought his ship to Breiddal in Iceland, below the district of Fljotsdal. On the ship were his wife and his son, who was named hrafnkel. he was then fifteen winters old, promising and able...

It was in the days of King harald Fair-hair son of halfdan the Black son of Gudrod the hunting King son of halfdan the Mild and Meal-stingy son of Eystein Fart

n of Olaf Wood-carver, King of the Swedes brought his ship to Breiddal in Iceland, below the ship were his wife and his son, who was then fifteen winters old, promising and able...